About Sue Vogan

Sue Vogan was a military wife for many years. During 1997, she was bitten by a tick and developed Lyme disease. Since then, her life has not been the same. She might have been dumped onto the path of chronic illness, but she has made the best of her journey. She has met some pretty incredible people and learned more about life than she ever knew existed.

SCHEDULE OF SHOWS

LISTEN to
In Short Order with
Sue Vogan every
Monday at 6:00 PM
PST!

Sue is a published author - NCO: No Compassion Observed and her new series, The Experts of Lyme Disease: A Radio Journalist Visits the Front Lines of the Lyme Wars, is due out in August - to preorder go to <http://www.lymebook.com/experts-of-lyme-disease-vogan>. But books weren't enough and that's how In Short Order came to be in 2005. And to just add a little more spice to the world of chronic disease, Sue will be starting a new magazine, Peer Observations, that will be written by the experts and be available in December 2008 by subscription (part of the profits go to medical research and education).
